

SDNBV BRINGS A WHOLE NEW GROUND OF OPPORTUNITIES BY HOSTING THE FIRST INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM OF THE YEAR 2023

THE UG DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH (SFS) SETS NEW STANDARDS IN ITS INORDINATE MISSION

The Department of B.A. English (sfs) had organized a one-day international symposium titled "BREAKING THE HERMENEUTIC HEGEMONY". The symposium hosted a multitude of critical approaches to De-Colonisation and Indigenous studies. Academic scholars from varied places presented their myriad views. Dr. Armstrong, Professor and Head of the Department of English, University of Madras commenced the symposium with a promising lead by presenting the inaugural address. Following the inaugural address, the keynote speaker from St. Thomas More College, University of Saskatchewan, Dr. Arul Kumaran edified the audience by tracing the legacy of colonialism and indigenization in Canada.

DR. PRABHU

"Wonderfully organised program. Best wishes! "

EVENT REPORT

---

Other prolific guest speakers are Dr. Supala Pandiarajan, an Associate professor from the University of Madras, Dr. T. Prabhu, an Assistant professor, Loganatha Narayanaswamy Government college, Dr. Siva Shankari, Head and an Assistant professor, SDNBV and Dr. Divya Jyoti Singh, Assistant professor, from the Jc Bose University of Science and Technology, Haryana.

DR. SUPULA
PANDIARAJAN

*"Well spent day.
Thank You!"*

---

The event was a great success as it received affirmative feedback not just from the students but also from esteemed scholars. By organizing a monumental event the department had not just set marks for the students to sail in the sea of enriched knowledge but also greatly stimulated the students to synergize their energies equitably. The symposium was an attempt to initiate more academic meet-ups for productive growth

DR. ARMSTRONG

"The symposium was well-planned and well-designed. The guests, delegates and the principal made it very friendly. The topic is extremely relevant, intellectual and contemporary"

DR. ARUL KUMARAN

"Lovely setting, enthusiastic students, great morale and attitude! thankfully enjoying the occassion!"

